CARLOON
COLLECTIONS

For over 40 years, Bob Mankoff has been the driving force of comedy and satire at some of the most honored publications in America, including the New Yorker and Esquire. He has devoted his life to discovering just what makes us laugh, and seeks every outlet to do so.

In 2018, Mankoff launched CartoonCollections.com, a new spin on the Cartoon Bank, the world's most successful cartoon licensing platform that he founded in 1992. At Cartoon Collections, Bob has brought together cartoons from the New Yorker and previously unavailable cartoons from National Lampoon, Esquire, Playboy, and Barron's to create the largest cartoon licensing source on the planet.

For twenty years as Cartoon Editor for The New Yorker, Mankoff pored over thousands of submissions each week, analyzing, critiquing, and selecting each cartoon. He mentored cartoonists, new and old, toward the laughs readers expect. In 2005, he helped start the "New Yorker Cartoon Caption Contest." With 5,000 reader submissions a week and millions of entries to date, Mankoff partnered with Microsoft and Google Deep Mind to develop algorithms to help cull the funniest captions.

Bob is the author of numerous books, including his New York Times bestselling memoir, How About Never – Is Never Good For You?: My Life In Cartoons, of which the Washington Post wrote, "Mankoff's deep understanding of humor, both its power and its practice, is the live wire that crackles through his book."

Bob is the ultimate New Yorker cartoon insider and during his tenure selected over 80,000 that were published including 950 of his own cartoons. Bob knows cartoons and is here with Deep Mind to help customize your Cartoon Collections Merchandise Program.
